TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

Knighthood for Tupper — Daily Called to Ottawa — Mercier Committed — Col. Villiers Suspended — No Remedial Legislation.

OTTAWA, October 11.—Hon. Chas. H. Tupper will make another trip to England this fall the capacity of British agent in the Behring sea arbitration case. He is now pushing through the government bureau the last of the extensive printing in connection with it. He is receiving a great deal of attention over this international difficulty, and it is said he expects knighthood if he conducts it to a successful issue.

SOMETHING IN THE WIND.

OTTAWA, Oct. 14th.—T. M. Daly, M. P. for Selkirk arrived here to-day. There is probably a political significance in his movements. It is rumored that he has received a call to the cabinet.

MERCIER COMMITTED.

QUEBEC, Oct. 10.—The court of Queen's Bench at which ex-Premier Mercier is to be tried, has opened. Judge Chassepau rendered judgement to-day committing Mercier to stand his trial on all three charges of malfeasance brought against him by the attorney-general. They were:

(1.) Receiving $26,000 payable to the Baie des Chaleurs Railway Co. and depositing it in his own name and applying it to the payment of his house hold debts.

(2.) Receiving $3,000, being part of the subsidy voted by the legislature to the Horeford Railway Co., a note of his to that amount having been discounted and met with the proceeds of a subsidy which was voted later.

(3.) Having been a party to diverting the sum of $14,000, being part of a subsidy to the Montreal & Ottawa Railway Co., from the purpose for which it was voted and applying it to political purposes.

Mercier was admitted to bail on his own personal recognizance.

ADJUT.-GENL. VILLIERS SUSPENDED.

WINNIPEG, October 11th.—There is indignation in military circles to-day. Some busy-body telegraphed the militia department that Col. Villiers had left the district on his honeymoon trip, and in consequence steps were taken that make it rather unpleasant for the deputy adjutant-general for a few days, at least, till the facts can be laid before the authorities. A dispatch was received in the city a few days ago suspending Col. Villiers as deputy of military districts No. 10, and temporarily naming Capt. Howard, as head of the local military force. The colonel had not left his boundary as alleged as his trip did not extend beyond Port Arthur. The sympathy of the entire community is with the deputy adjutant-general.

The general impression is that Col. Villiers will be re-instated immediately. Who sent the news is a mystery, but there will be a row when his name becomes known.

NO REMEDIAL LEGISLATION.

TORONTO, Oct. 8.—The Empire discusses Mgr. Tache's appeal on the Manitoba School case, and says the only safe ground which can be taken by the Dominion in regard to legislation in the provinces on subject committed to them by the Confederation act, and which is kept within their rights under the constitution is that of non-interference. That was the doctrine laid down when it was sought to give the Dominion to interfere with Quebec in the matter of Jesuit Estates' Act, and despite the strong feeling which was aroused among a portion of the Protestant population, that stand was properly adhered to. Now our Roman Catholic friends are pressing interference, but if they will stop to consider it, they will see that the same rule is the proper one in their case also and to break away from it opens possibilities which they would probably be the first to deplore. We have always conceded that the strong feeling they are manifesting is quite natural, considering the circumstances under which the Manitoba school law was passed, but they had facility afforded them to prosecute their appeal to the highest court in the empire and now that the decision has gone against them they should endeavor to make best of the situation instead of seeking for redress in a quarter where the difficulties in the way are practically insurmountable. They should turn to the province which has the power to deal with the matter and we have faith enough in the people of any of our provinces to believe that when the excitement calms down, if a genuine case of injustice is made out the Protestants as well as the Catholics will eventually see that this injustice is not perpetuated.

Crossing the Bar.

The following touching tribute to the dead poet is from the pen of Sir Edwin Arnold

No mourning of the bar; sail forth, strong ship,
Into that gloom which has God's face for a far light.

Not a dirge, but a proud fare well from each fond lip,
And praise, abounding praise, and fame's faint starlight.

Lamp thy torches to that large moon
Where thou shalt quire with angels,
Words of wine

Are for the unfulfilled, not thee, whose moon
Of genius sinks full on bed, glorious aglow.

Non-mourning of the bar, musical drifting
Of time's waves, turning to the eternal sea.

Death's soft wind all thy coilant canyons lifting,
And Christ thy pilot to the peace to be.

In various comments published to-day The Times calls Tennyson "the English Virgil" on account of his mastery of lofty, graceful and sonorous verse. "Never since Milton" it says "has England heard as stately blank verse as 'The Idylls of the King'." He had an eye almost as true and loving as Homer for the beautiful side of the trials of daily life. The Times also says that Tennyson expressed the wish that his son, Hallam, to write his biography. The Death of Osearona forms the subject of the principal poem in the coming volume of Tennyson.

The Chronicle thinks Swinburne is the only possible post-laureate.

The body of Tennyson has been transferred from the bed in which he died to the inner shell of elm, which is later to be enclosed by the coffin. The shell rests on trestles, and is covered with a winding sheet, which leaves the face of the poet exposed. On the head is a velvet skull cap, which Tennyson had been in the habit of wearing. The remains will be placed in an oak coffin on Monday. The inscription on the place will simply be the poet's name and the date of his birth and death.

C. P. E. TRAFFIC.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 11.—These are busy days on the western division of the C.P.R. and Chief Dispatcher James and his efficient staff have little time while on duty to think of anything outside of safely guiding trains. On an average twelve wheat trains leave the yard every day and the number is increasing every week. This means 240 cars of wheat, which, together with the regulars, keep all hands busy attending to orders. It is the lucky time of the year for locomotive engineers and some draw as high as $225 a month from now on till the wheat shipments grow lighter. Passenger traffic keeps up and the tourist cars are filled every day while passing through the city. At present the Ontario farmers' excursionists are returning home, and a well filled train nightly for the east.

SUPREME COURT.

Seven Cases Determined.

A sitting of the Supreme Court of the Northwest Territories was held in Russell Hall, Moose Jaw, on Tuesday, the 11th inst.

His Honor Judge Richardson, presided.

ALLISON V. STEVENSON.

This case arose out of a changing of work between two neighbors in 1889. The plaintiff had worked on the building of a house for the defendant. The defendant had worked with his son and teams assisting the plaintiff in haying and harvesting. The plaintiff claimed that the exchange of work did not include his work on the house and put in a claim of $75.00 for work done thereon. The defendant claimed that the exchange of work did include the plaintiff's work on the house and put in an offset claim for work done by him for the plaintiff.

This case, although trivial in its nature, occupied considerable time. Judgement reserved.

T. C. Johnstone, for plaintiff; W. J. Nelson, for Defendant.

NICOLLE V. MCCOY.

This was a case in which the plaintiff claimed that the defendant had been guilty of trespass in that he had hauled hay across sec. 35-18-25, a section owned by the plaintiff. The plaintiff had secured an injunction of the court restraining him from committing this trespass but the defendant had disobeyed this injunction supposing it had expired. Several witnesses were examined who swore that they saw the defendant drive across the section in question. It was shown by witnesses that it was impossible to haul hay from the hay reserve without crossing the section belonging to the plaintiff. The plaintiff had made the statement that by restraining people from crossing his section he would thus compel the government to sell him a portion of section 35, on which the hay reserve is situated.

Judgement reserved.
T. C. Johnstone and Wm. Grayson, for plaintiff.

D. L. Scott and J. G. Gordon, for defendant.

MCDONNELL V. MCLEAN AND POTTER.

This was an action for the recovery of $2617.85 alleged to be due the plaintiff from the defendants. The defendants were chairman and secretary representing the Board of Management of the Presbyterian Church. A contract to build a Manse had been awarded James Brass, contractor. On the 28 of January, Brass gave Mr. H. McDougall, to whom he was indebted, an order on the Board of Managers for $817.85. This order was presented by Mr. McDougall at a meeting of the Board held on January 29th. The plaintiff alleges that the order was accepted unconditionally, the defendants held that on account of the unfinished state of the Manse the order was accepted conditional upon the completion of the building in question. The plaintiff sued on the order as a bill of exchange. After the acceptance of the order by the defendants as chairman and secretary as aforesaid the sum of $290 was paid thereon, when the plaintiff brought action for the recovery of the balance.

During the cross examination of the plaintiff the learned Judge ruled that, as it was evident to his mind that the manse was not completed at the time the order was accepted, he would appoint two experts to examine the building and report under oath to him. J. A. MacDonald, Architect, Regina, Sworn.—I find exterior brickwork and inside plastering defective. The roof was not on verandah. An out-house was not built. The brickwork of cellar was not in a satisfactory condition. These with some defects of a trivial nature would cost about $50.

Mr. Wm. Henderson, Architect

Regina, agreed with the previous witness in no particular and estimated the cost of replacing defective work at about $10.

His Lordship stated that he would endeavor to do justice to both parties and reserved his decision.

J. C. Johnstone and Wm. Grayson, for plaintiff; W. J. Nelson, for defendants.

ROSE VS. ANFABLE.

This was an action on a Promissory note made by the defendant for $335.

The defendant admitted the note, but the defendant claimed a set-off of $172.50, paying the balance $162.50. Upon consent of the counsel the assessment of the amount due on set-off was referred to Alex. Davidson as sole arbitrator.

T. C. Johnston for the plaintiff, W. J. Nelson for the defendant.

SCHAM VS. A. E. GRAYSON.

This was an action claiming a balance due on an open account compensation for the use of a fanning mill in the years 1887-88-89. The plaintiff also claimed damages for the breach of a warranty that a maw sold by the defendant to the plaintiff was in fact which, after the sale, turned out to be contrary to such representation.

By consent of the counsel the matters in issue were referred to the arbitration of S. N. de P. Green.

W. J. Nelson for the plaintiff, T. C. Johnstone and Wm. Grayson for the defendant.

BRASLEY VS. HEATH.

This was an appeal from the conviction of S. N. de P. Green J. P. whereby the defendant was fined $10 and costs for pound-breach.

W. J. Nelson and Wm. Grayson appeared for Brasley. T. C. Johnston was counsel for the appellant Heath.

On Mr. Johnstone's motion that the appeal be heard, Mr. Nelson objected that proper notice of appeal had not been given. The conviction was made on Sept. 1st 1892. The statute says: Notice of appeal must be served within 10 days after conviction. Notice was served on the 12th, the tenth day after the conviction expiring on Sunday the 11th.

The Judge held that notice of Monday was too late. It should have been served on Saturday the 10th of September. The appeal was therefore not heard.

BOHMER JOTTINGS.

Another county heard from! We had not read many lines before we recognized the giant intellect of the "Joker." We humbly apologize; we were quite aware when we said the hinders where all laid away, that the "Joker" had three quarters of an acre of green grass to cut, but we thought he would have had a pair of scissors and a fine-tooth comb.

With regard to church singing, we gave the opinion of some visitors to Bohmer church, some weeks ago. As a member of that choir, modestly refrained us from giving an opinion, but now truth compels us to add that the rendering of the anthem last Sunday would have done credit to many a choir of greater pretensions.

Perhaps Mr. "Joker" did not get an invitation to sing in our choir, but he proving his ability and sending in an application to Reginald Johnston or Murry Thomson he might possibly be invited.

Mr. Joker says "I have him spotted." It's the first time on record Bohmer was ever called "him."

And as for being early that is quite a compliment. The early bird always catches the worm.

Now, Mr. Editor we have no intention, neither have you any space in your paper for any useless controversy that will lead to no good but might possibly if carried too far and create bad feelings between friends. Still, sometimes our fingers twitch for the tray for we still hold the "Joker." It is not our intention either to exaggerate or to hurt the feelings of any. We merely write for a little sport and to turn the eyes of the civilized world to Bohmer as a field for emigration.

Should the "Joker" feel disposed to keep your readers informed of the city, Ramblers is willing at any time to lay down the pen and pay more attention to other interests. We have never courted notoriety. Jogging along in an obscure way has always been good enough for us.

Our member after reading last week's "Jottings" has not only decided to repair the bridge but also to grade the entire data providing he can let the work at a reasonable price, so boys, keep your tenders down if you want the work completed.

PREFERENTIAL TRADE AND BRITISH PROTECTION.

A perusal of English newspapers informs us that it is an uncontrovertible fact that British trade is on the decline—and with no prospect of any improvement. The exports are said to be so rapidly decreasing as to create alarm, while at the same time manufacturing interests are suffering from the increasing importation of manufactured articles. The iron and steel industry for the present year shows unprecedented depression. The tin-plate industry is almost ruined. The silk manufacturers are suffering from a marked depression in their trade. The agricultural community dependent upon Lancashire cotton are in dire distress. The British producer finds himself shut out by having protective and revenue duties in nearly all foreign markets, while his own market is thrown open to the world. In fact the manufacturers of England are rapidly reaching the lamentable condition of Canadian manufacturers during MacKenzie's regime.

If the depression continues they will grow desperate and will seek a remedy for their unfortunate state. If Salisbury in opposition would promise some limited degree of protection, he might wrestle from Gladstone, as Sir John did from Mackenzie, the reins of government. In Cobden's time Free Trade, (admittedly good in theory, if universal) may have been advantageous or rather we should say that, in his day, there was no danger of foreign manufacturers successfully competing against the British home manufacturer. But "times change and things change with them." The condition of things which may have benefitted our ancestors may be ill-suited to the wants of the present generation.

The reasons that called Free Trade into practical existence in Cobden's day, could not and does not apply to-day; or as the old Roman maxim puts it, thus translated: "A reason cannot now be given for everything our ancestors were pleased to adopt or ordain." That Free Trade is today working incalculable injury in Britain cannot be gainsaid.

Theoretical discussions upon the relative merits of Free Trade and Protection will not, as the London Times may imagine, assist the British manufacturer out of his difficulties. The time for practical action has arrived. The manufacturing and land owning element want some degree of protection. The working man must be educated up to it as he had to be in Canada.

The chief question which must forthwith court discussion is: what form of protection will best relieve the existing grievances and best assist British interests?

In the newspaper comments on the situation no reference has been made, direct or indirect, to Imperial preferential duties. The remedy, in our opinion, lies in the adoption by Britain and her colonies of a protective tariff against the world, and the largest degree of Free Trade between her and her colonies and dependencies. This is what most concerns us and our interest in the controversy must centre in this.

The prospects of preferential Free Trade as we have indicated, never were so bright, the situation in Great Britain never so favorable. The advocates of preferential trade can hardly expect British free traders to turn round at once and publicly abjure their former convictions. What the free traders say is this: "Show us the benefits and practicability of United Empire trade and we will make some sacrifice to gain it, but we will continue to call ourselves staunch Cobdenites as of yore." It would be absurd, therefore, to quarrel with men who are willing to support our policy, while sticking in theory to the old doctrine. It is the votes of those men we want, not to smash their prejudices, and the resolution of Col. Howard Vincent and other promoters of preferential duties is not to raise unnecessarily the abstract question of free trade v. protection, but to stick to a practical remedy for a practical condition is, in our opinion, eminently wise and prudent.

The practical remedy lies, as we have said in an equitable arrangement of custom tariffs as against the world, and free trade in the British Dominions. If Imperial Federationists united in endeavoring to bring such a state of things into existence, they would do much to forward their much hoped-for Imperial Federation.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

In writing for the press, while being explicit, the correspondent should make the statement as brief as possible. Though in ordinary conversation, talk may be cheap, in the newspaper words cost time and money. Time is consumed by the editor and proof reader; money is expended in putting it in type, and time is occupied by the readers in perusal; therefore each word should convey as much significance as possible.

The chirography of great writers is sometimes very bad, but bad penmanship does not make a man a great writer. It is not an evidence of genius to write the first and last letter of a word and leave the editor to guess at what is between. Write very plainly taking care to write names of persons, dates and places with the utmost distinctness.

Number your sheets and write on but one side. Thus the paper containing your communication may, if necessary, be cut up and distributed among several compositors.

As a rule in short articles never use the pronouns I or you. A plain succinct record of the news is all that is required. If necessary for the writer to refer to himself it is better to say "Your Correspondent" or "The Writer."

Never waste your time and the editor's by complimenting him on his "valuable paper." Commence at once with the subject in hand and close when you are done.

Correspondents should carefully guard against allowing his own opinions to warp or bias his report of the sayings and doings of others, thus giving, almost without his being conscious of the fact, an untruthful representation. A plain unvarnished report should be made and nothing else.

Much discretion should be exercised in the personal mention of individuals. A dozen words, thoughtlessly written, may do irreparable injury to the reputation of an innocent person; a paragraph in praise may add to the life-long happiness and prosperity of the individual on whom it is bestowed. As a general rule while praise may be given, if wrongs exist it is better to speak of them in general terms, rather than couple them with names of individuals at fault; though, if a person be notoriously persistent in a course of wrong-doing, justice demands newspaper exposure.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Fred Ober, who is actively engaged in hunting up relics and curiosities for the World's Fair, has come to the conclusion that there are at least two separate and distinct sets of Christopher Columbus' remains.

The wheat crop of 1892 is the best that our farmers have had for many years. The weather for the last month has been magnificent. There has been no frost yet. The crop is safely stacked and a great deal of threshing has been done.

The conference between representatives of the Canadian and Newfoundland Governments to discuss and adjust matters between the two colonies will take place in Halifax towards the end of this month. Hon. Messrs. Bowell, Chapleau and Tupper have been appointed commissioners to represent the Dominion.

We have this week received as an exchange the current number of "The Prison Mirror," a bright, newsy little weekly, published by the convicts of the Minnesota State Prison, at Stillwater. The Mirror was founded in 1887 by the convicts and is edited by them. Its objects are: To encourage moral and intellectual improvement among the prisoners; to acquaint the public with the true status of the prisoner; to disseminate penological information, and to aid in dispelling that prejudice which has ever been the barrier to a fallen man's self-redemption.

During the month of September, the Canadian Pacific railway Co. sold 15,442 acres of land realizing for the same $50,057. For the same period last year 4,976 were sold for $17,979. The month of September is always looked upon as a poor sale month, as during that time farmers are busy with their threshing and have no time to devote to other business. During October, sales commence to pick up and are usually large during the winter and spring times of the year.

Mr. Douglas Brynner, L. L. D., Dominion archivist, is to leave shortly for London and Paris to continue his researches in connection with the early history of Canada. The British Government now gives Canada's archivist access to the official records extending down to the year 1842, so that Mr. Brynner's coming investigation is likely to produce some extremely valuable information concerning the "inner history" of the movement which led to the insurrection of 1837-38, and the granting of responsible government to Canada.

Michael Davitt has addressed a meeting of Irishmen in Glasgow. He said he believed the time was ripe for a movement to give English, Scotch and Welsh farmers the protection of judicial leases and land courts for the revision and reduction of rents. "Such a movement," he said, "will give the Argyles, the Devonshires, the Belfours and the Westminsters, who are now encouraging the Irish landlord campaign, enough to do to defend their own interests. The moment the landlord campaign is opened in Ireland we will start a land league in Great Britain."

At a meeting of the Cabinet council held in Ottawa on October 12, Dr. Ferguson of Welland and A. Desjardins of Hochelaga were appointed Senators.

Those who have the privilege of knowing the new Senators must admit that they will be decided acquisitions to the Upper House. To Ontario people the name of Dr. John Ferguson is well known. A man of rare ability, genial and popular, he brings with him to the Senate an experience of ten years in parliament which cannot but stand him in good stead and will, doubtless, at once bring him to the front in the discussions of the Upper Chamber. In equal degree in the neighboring province is Hon. A. Desjardins known. He has had a long Parliamentary experience—18 years—and is one of the brightest of the Parliamentary contingent from Quebec.

His call to the Upper House leaves the seat for Hochelaga vacant and also the chairmanship of the Debates Committee of the House of Commons.

Although on principle the system of placing a sum of money in the hands of a member of the legislature for expenditure in his district is not good, it is at the present time the only practical way in which the appropriation for local improvements can be disbursed in an effective and beneficial manner.

In the absence of municipalities the present system is the simplest and cheapest. If any other system were adopted at the present time it would have to be a system that would require the greater portion of the amount to be expended to grease the wheels. In the Moose Jaw District this year the cost of arranging the several works etc. has not been one per cent. of the amount expended.

Another name has been added to the list of England's illustrious dead. Last week one of the greatest of modern writers, whose name has become a household word, whose simple, unaffected, yet lofty strains have found an echo in the heart of so many—has passed away. We reproduce one of his latest songs entitled "Crossing the Bar."

Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call to me,
And may there be no moaning of the bar
When I put out to sea,
But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for noise or foam;
When that which moves from out the boundless deep,
Turns again home.
For though from out our bourne of time and place,
The flood may bear me far;
I hope to see my Pilot face to face,
When I have crossed the bar.

Much is being said just now about immigration into the United States. Even the Pan- Presbyterian Council, in discussing fields for missionary labor, referred to it. The following from a recent article in The Forum speaks volumes and requires no comment.

"One who desires to study the vital phase of the immigration problem should go to the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania. There he will find one of the richest regions of the earth overrun with a horde of Hungarians, Slavs, Poles, Bohemians, Arabs, Italians, Sicilians, Russians and Tyrolese of the lowest class; a section almost denationalized by the scum of the continent, where woman hesitate to drive about the country roads by day, where unarmed men are not safe after the sinking of the sun.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

An interesting publication will be some heretofore unpublished poems by the late Lord Tennyson. The Macmillan's have the work ready for press.

Mr. James H. Ross M. L. A. has been actively engaged during the past few weeks arranging for the letting of contracts for bridges, repairing of bridges and building dams throughout the district.

The War department at Washington has deemed it necessary to send a detachment of troops to assist the Government Agents at Turtle Mountain to preserve order among the Indians.

The reported probable resignation of Wm. Sutherland, member for North Qu'Appelle was a clever ruse. There is no such link in store for Mr. Cayley. The people of the Territories want to know the line and outs of that bribery charge, and Sutherland is not going to resign his seat—not by a large majority.

George Parkin of the Imperial Federation League is making research for material for a valuable series of articles on Canada and the United States. Parkin will in all probability, make a trip to the Pacific coast.

Sandford Fleming has embodied his views on the subject of direct cable communication with Australia, in a letter to Sir John Lubbock, President of the Congress of Chambers of Commerce.

In the loss by death of Joel Reaman, member for Wallace, the Cayley party in the Assembly has suffered a serious blow. The strength of Mr. Cayley's following is now twelve while Mr. Haultain has thirteen. If the House remains as it now is, when next again, of a surety "Rouge" will bowl."

LAWN TENNIS.

List of Prize Winners.

The Lawn Tennis Tournament came to a close last week. The final game was played between Mr. W. B. Crosbie, Banker, and Mr. J. A. Calder, principal of Moose Jaw High School. The game was played on the point system
— the player first obtaining one hundred points winning the game.
Calder led from the first and at the end of the first set was 12 points ahead. Crosbie was not in good form.

The play throughout the whole game was not what is called "grand stand" playing, but was straight scientific tennis. It cannot be said that a single bad play was made by either player. At the end of the second set Calder led by 3 points.

The game from this to the finish was very even. Point by point Crosbie crept up and the play on both sides was magnificent. In the third set Crosbie overtook the score when it stood 66-66. In the fourth set the players were even again at 80-80.
The interest was intense as the score reached the nineties. From this point we give the score as the games were played.

CROSBIE.	CALDER.
86	85
88	90
93	91
97	96

be imagined.

COVENTRY.

On Friday, October 7th, a very enjoyable picnic was held on the banks of the creek in the above thriving settlement. The afternoon was beautifully fine and warm, and by about half past two, a large number of people, young and old, had assembled to enjoy a few hours pleasant social intercourse. A platform had been erected, and a long programme was gone through consisting of music (vocal and instrumental) and recitations. Mr. Stephenson Jr. was called upon to take the chair and opened the proceedings by a short but pithy address; he referred to the great benefit which people living on the prairie might receive from these social gatherings, and said that this picnic, which was the first ever held in this settlement, would doubtless be followed by many others of a similar description. He thought that great credit was due to all those who had devoted their time and labor to make the event a success. The programme consisted of selections by the choir and by the scholars of Coventry school under the leadership of Miss Ruttle, solos by Miss White, Mr.

Guttridge and Mr. White, violin solos by Mr. White, and recitations by some of the scholars. The programme was brought to a close by singing the national anthem, after which tea was served and refreshments, provided by the ladies of the district, were passed round and thoroughly appreciated.
We must not omit to mention the comic oration given by a mysterious individual who appeared on the platform just at dusk, which caused much amusement.
